

Carlos Bica

Carlos Bica is one of the few Portuguese musicians with international renown who has influenced European Jazz in an unmistakable way. Next to the many musical projects that he has initiated and his work as a composer for theater, film and dance, his trio AZUL, with Berlin guitarist Frank Möbus and New York drummer Jim Black, has become Bica's trademark as composer and double bass player.

SINGLE, which is Carlos Bica's first double bass solo CD, reveals the urgent desire of following pure intuition without questioning how or why. The purpose of the album is not to prove the virtuosity of an egocentric, but most of all, that the sound of the instrument that springs forth from the collaboration with the musician, touches the listener's soul. The music is the leader and not the instrument. Here musician and instrument meet, while both are independent and discover each other simultaneously.

"Single" was recorded at Berlin-Brandenburg Radio's studio, and released by Bor Land.
